THE STRIKE.

Summary of Reports from Principal Points.

AT NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, July 23.—The force of operators which reported for duty at the Western Union Telegraph office this morning numbered about 230, and it was said that some of those who were at work last week were missing from their posts. There was no business left over last night, and this morning all the wires were clear and there was no delay in handling all the matter. One of the officials said the outlook was becoming more encouraging every day. He said: "The force at our command is now more advantageously distributed than at any other time since the beginning of the strike and everything is working much more smoothly than could have been expected under the circumstances. Under this arrangement of our forces we hope to avoid in future all those delays which resulted from the demoralization attending the strike last week. The number of applicants for situations is increasing each day, and before the end of the week we hope to have most of the empty desks filled. It certainly does not seem as though we were much hampered when we are able to send and receive messages to and from all points in the south and west. The statement that our business in the gulf states is completely blocked is without foundation. This morning every wire is working and we are getting along about as well as before the strike. The rumor that the boys and girls we are employed as check clerks would join the strike this morning is not confirmed by the facts, as they were at work as usual."

The executive committee of the board of trade and transportation ask that the differences between the Western Union Telegraph Company and its employes be referred to arbitration.

AT CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, July 23.—At the headquarters no new business of any kind was being transacted, but the strikers were gathered discussing the situation in groups of various sizes, and without demonstration of any kind. When asked for information, the press committee furnished the following official items: There were twenty-three men, mostly of a very inferior class, on duty at one o'clock this morning. The Western Union are trying to injure our cause by circulating reports that their lines are being cut by strikers. We have reliable information from various strikers inside the ranks, who are in a position to know, that there is no more trouble on the wires than would naturally be expected under the circumstances. The Unions having struck with the operators, the force at their command is insufficient to keep a large number of lines in repair, and the trouble we have been accumulating for several days. All members of the brotherhood have positive instructions to commit no act of violence under any circumstances, and we believe the above report is a malignant canard. News has been received from offices where the new men have been put in that they have heard given the signatures of the old men. This is done to create the impression that the old men have gone back to work. Let no one be deceived by this. A dispatch received this morning from New York says the New York membership is 1860, and everywhere the order is increasing in strength.

THE OTHER SIDE OF IT.

The Western Union Company has recruited a new force for the general and stock telegraph service in this city, and the market quotations are reaching subscribers as usual to-day. The situation is otherwise unchanged. Nearly all the morning journals here give both sides of the case very fairly, and it is difficult to draw the line where the tone of both the company and the strikers is alike so confident. The Tribune and News both assume editorially that the company will certainly win, while the others take exactly the opposite view, based on their advices from New York city. The western service of the Western Union Company is being well cared for, but there are complaints of delay from other quarters, but whether well founded it is difficult to determine. The strikers here profess to be very confident that the company will listen to their demands in a few days. They are receiving advices from all quarters.

AT PHILADELPHIA.

PHILADELPHIA, July 23.—There is no change in the attitude of the telegraphers' strike here to-day. The force at the Western Union office remains the same as on Saturday and the officials say that all business is being handled without delay. The strikers are apparently firm and hopeful.

The Western Union to-day captured two strikers. The latter claim to have captured five Western Union men. The meeting of the strikers to-night was one of the largest and most enthusiastic yet held.

AT SAN FRANCISCO.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 23.—Rumor was set in circulation yesterday, probably to raise the drooping spirits of the local strikers, that the operators who had remained at their posts in this city on Friday last, when the strike was ordered, are becoming discontented and were gradually leaving, thereby further impeding the operations of the company. The rumors are without the slightest foundation, as Superintendent Jaynes informed a reporter last night that a full force of competent and respectable operators were at work. Dispatches from the interior were now coming in regularly, and also from the north, although a delay of two hours was caused last evening in the sending of dispatches from Portland, owing to the fact that a heavy blast by the graders of the railroad, which runs along the line of the telegraph, had knocked down seven poles and laid low the wires. The mischief had, however, been remedied. Superintendent Jaynes was incidentally asked by the reporter if he would take back any of the strikers.

"Certainly. As far as I am concerned, I have nothing against them. The men struck because they believed they were in honor bound to do so. Every man who has acted decently will, I think, be allowed to come back."

A meeting of the Typographical Union will be held at 1 o'clock to-day in the old City hall.

Local Assembly No. 1573, of the Knights of Labor, met last evening in Huddy's hall. The assembly has donated $250 to the striking telegraph operators, and each member has guaranteed to sell five tickets for their benefit next Sunday evening. Delegations from other trades were present to ascertain what they could do for the striking operators.

DOUBTFUL STORY ABOUT GOULD.

NEW YORK, July 23.—A New York special declares that the crisis is at hand, and asserts that Jay Gould never would have entered the contest had he understood the real situation. A correspondent asserts he had no real knowledge of the strength of the brotherhood and would have listened to their statement if he had known the exact facts of the case.

THE PRESIDENT'S TRIP.

The Proposed Expedition to the Yellowstone Country.

CHICAGO, July 23.—A representative of the associated press called upon General Sheridan to-day to ascertain the details of the contemplated trip of the president to the Yellowstone region. The general explained that President Arthur had now fully decided to undertake the journey, a decision that had only been reached within the last few days. The party will consist of Secretary Lincoln, Surrogate Rollins of New York, Governor J. Schuyler Crosby of Montana, Senator Vest and General Sheridan, and will start from this city on July 31 on a special train, tendered by the Northwestern and Union Pacific roads. Green River station, on the Union Pacific, will be reached on the night of August 3. The party will there take spring wagons and drive to Atlantic City and remain there over night, and will arrive at Fort Washakie on August 7. After resting at Washakie one day they will proceed on horseback, accompanied by E. M. Hayes' troop of the Fifth United States cavalry, up the valley of the Wind river, across the main chain of the Rocky mountains, into the Teton basin, near Jackson lake, and thence will go to the upper Geyser basin, arriving there about August 25. After remaining three or four days in the National park the party will strike the Northern Pacific railroad at Livingston, where a special train, tendered by the Northern Pacific and Chicago and Northwestern roads, will meet them and bring them back to Chicago.

The camp equipage and forty days' rations for the escort and mess and equipage for the presidential party will be transported from Washakie by pack mules. About twenty-five of these mules will be used for headquarters, and the remainder, comprising about 125, will be led for the supply of the escort, going and returning, and for the supply of the courier line that will be dropped along the trail to keep the president in daily communication with Washington. General Sheridan stated that the expedition would be beneficial to the president and secretary in the way of healthful exercise, and in addition would give them an opportunity to see something of the western frontier people and some of the military posts. There would be no expense attached to it more than had attached to any of the expeditions the general had made in former years. The pack trains and cavalry were on hand. The former having to be kept always in readiness in anticipation of Indian troubles, the men receive their rations and the horses their forage when at their posts, and as guides are usually taken from those in government employ, the matter of expense is not greater than would occur should the president not go at all.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES.

Action Taken by the United States Authorities.

CHICAGO, July 23.—The Tribune's Washington special says: Dr. Hamilton, supervising surgeon of the marine hospital service, has received information as to the cholera and yellow fever which gives him some concern. A dispatch from a trustworthy medical authority is to the effect that six cases of Asiatic cholera have appeared at the London docks. A dispatch from Havana, from a medical officer, says that a steamer from Vera Cruz landed twenty-six cases of yellow fever there and proceeded to New York. Dr. Hamilton at once sent precautionary dispatches to the health officers at Boston, New York and all the Atlantic points.

The secretary of the treasury cabled the American consul-general at London and the consul at Liverpool to appoint at once a sanitary inspector, whose duty it shall be to inspect all vessels leaving the United Kingdom for the United States and to notify by cable the health authorities of this country of all such vessels having disease on board, or which are likely to develop disease on the voyage. This action is taken in consequence of the rumor, which has reached here that cholera has appeared in the London docks.

MEMPHIS, July 23.—It is learned that within the past fortnight over seventy-five persons have died from flux in three small towns near this city.

"What is the population of L[illegible], D. T., now?" we asked.

"Well, the first lumber was received two weeks ago last Sunday. Now there are six general stores, one dry goods store, one hardware store, five saloons, one meat market, three lumber yards, one bank, one newspaper office, one telegraph office, a post office with 250 call and 80 lock boxes of the Yale pattern in a building 20x30, two stories high, two hotels, and some other structures. Since then there has been started another bank, a fifty-room hotel, a hardware store, a dry goods house 30x80, and Presbyterian church."

The Haytien Revolution—The Tonquin Trouble—Meeting of the Emperors of Austria and Germany—An Outbreak in Mexico.

Gladstone and De Lesseps.

LONDON, July 23.—Gladstone announced in the commons this afternoon that he would not ask parliament at this session to sanction the agreement in regard to the Suez canal made with De Lesseps. The announcement of the prime minister was received with cheers by members of the opposition.

In the house of lords Earl Granville, foreign secretary, said the agreement would be referred to a special committee.

The Marquis of Salisbury said that when the papers relating to the canal negotiations were presented to parliament the opposition would be able to judge whether it was their duty to take further measures to ascertain the views of parliament or of the government in regard to the canal transaction, which, he asserted, deeply compromised national interests. He declared that De Lesseps, in order to cut a second canal across the Isthmus of Suez, must obtain the consent of Egypt which was really the consent of England. The government, he said, should state the terms on which such consent would be granted.

A letter from De Lesseps to Gladstone dated July 20, in relation to the provisional canal agreement between the former and the British government, is published. De Lesseps' agreement gives such just rights as are permitted by the obligations of the company which enjoys an exclusive monopoly for ninety-nine years. He fears that unpleasant discussion in England with reference to the agreement may prejudice the friendly sentiments between the English and French peoples. He begs Gladstone, in the interest of general peace and of the French-English alliance, not to consider himself bound. He declines to express his opinion relative to the bold idea in favor of an international commission to control the canal, although he admitted that the canal would thereby be made more beneficial.

If the agreement is suspended or even withdrawn De Lesseps says the Suez canal company, while it will immediately proceed with the construction of a second canal, will enforce the reduction of dues as stipulated in the agreement. De Lesseps informed Sir Charles Rivers Wilson that the capital for the new canal would be raised by allotment of shares, England to have the option of subscribing in respect to her shares.

Rapid Spread of the Cholera—Sanitary Measures.

ALEXANDRIA, July 23.—The reports of deaths on Sunday from cholera are as follows: At Damietta 17, Mansurah 12, Samanoud 12, Tantah 7, Chobar 1?, and at nine other places 78. There were 295 deaths from the disease at Cairo.

In addition to the outbreak of cholera at the town of Fareseour, eight miles southwest of Damietta, leprosy has appeared there and is spreading rapidly. There are neither doctors nor medicines at Fareseour.

LONDON, July 23.—A serious outbreak of case of cholera is reported at Bombay.

The English government will dispatch twelve doctors, who are experts in cholera to Egypt to-morrow.

SIMLA, July [illegible].—A doctor with forty assistants has been ordered to proceed from India to Egypt.

CAIRO, July [illegible].—The newly formed sanitary commission has decided to establish three additional hospitals here and is arranging an ambulance corps. The condition of the prisons, hospitals is horrible. About one-third of the native cells, a large part of Bulak, has been burned. Over [illegible] were found in many of the houses. Eight hundred inhabitants of Bulak are encamped at Tourah, surrounded by a cordon. Nothing is supplied them and they are dying of famine. The cholera is spreading among their guards. There has been one death by cholera among the British troops.

A Cardinal on the Pope's Circular.

DUBLIN, July 23.—Cardinal McCabe receiving the clergy Sunday condemned the false teachers who asserted that the pope in issuing his late circular was exceeding his legitimate sphere and authority or had been influenced by secular motives. Those disobeying the circular, he said, incurred the guilt of heresy.

Meeting of the Emperors.

VIENNA, July 23.—The emperor of Germany and emperor of Austria will meet at Ischel, not at Gastein, where it has all along been understood they would come together. Count Kalnoky, Austro-Hungarian minister of foreign affairs, will leave Vienna for Ischel to-morrow.

The Haytien Revolution.

PORT AU PRINCE, July 23.—The revolutionists remain in possession of Miragoane and still hold Jeremie, where they severely defeated the government troops. The apparent tranquility in the west of the country is not owing to loyalty on the part of the inhabitants, but to fears of a general uprising of negroes and mulattoes and the massacre of one or the other.

Death of General Ord.

HAVANA, July 23.—General Ord, of the United States army, who took passage on the steamer City of Washington at Vera Cruz for New York and was taken with yellow fever, compelling his removal to the shore while the vessel was quarantined, died last night at [illegible] o'clock.

An Outbreak in Mexico.

LAREDO, July 23.—The rebellion in the lower end of the state of Tamaulipas is said to be gaining strength daily. Over 400 rebels, headed by young Contreras, defeated the regular forces on the first engagement. A large number of the troops in Laredo have been ordered to the scene of the disturbance.

Mail Business Increasing.

LAREDO, July 23.—The Mexican mail has so increased lately that it is necessary now in order to properly dispatch it to close the Laredo postoffice two hours in the middle of the day.

A Storm in Canada.

EXETER, Ont., July 23.—A terrific wind and rain storm passed over this place last evening, which created intense excitement. Hotels, churches and houses were unroofed. No loss of life is known of to-day. The town presents a most deplorable appearance.

Conflict of French and English.

CAIRO, July 23.—It is rumored that an affray took place to-day between English and French marines and that several were killed and wounded.

THREE-DOLLAR TITLE.

Detroit Free Press.

Every member of the club seemed to feel that something unusual was about to occur. The president and Giveadam Jones were observed consulting in the most careful manner; Waydown Bebee opened a new bottle of red ink with much formality; Samuel Shin walked around with his hands in his pockets and his left eye drawn down; Prof. Sluggs Datoel wiped his brow with one hand and patted Shindig Watson on the back with the other, and all even Cordurey Taylor and Elder Toots couldn't help but realize that the usual routine of events was to be interrupted. At length the president nodded to the janitor to shoulder the triangle, and when the meeting had been declared opened he read the following communication:

BOSTON, Mass., 1883.

Brother Gardner—Harvard College has refused to give Gov. Ben Butler a title. Can't your club do something for him in this direction? Any honors that you may bestow will be heartily appreciated by him and his MANY FRIENDS.

"Gem'len," added the old man as he laid the document aside, "we will consider de queshun as befo' de house, an' I should like a gineral expreshun of opinyun."

Sir Isaac Walpole had heard a good deal about Ben Butler. Three or four years ago he considered him a tough case, but of late there was strong reasons of hope for reformation, and he was in favor of encouraging him with a title.

Hon. John Mulcher didn't know much about the man, but if a title would improve his wood-cuts in the illustrated papers he would vote for a title.

Elders Smith, Wilson, Davis and Watson were each in favor of a title.

Judges Cadaver, Cahoots, Crampton and Jones wanted to know if Ben Butler had ever founded a colored orphan asylum or any other ball for a colored man—with a title—and [illegible].

A most every member, and all titles to members suggestions to offer, but when the matter was put to a vote it was decided to grant a title.

"Den de queshun arises what title to gin him," said the president. "LL. D. may mean a doctor of divinity, or a doctor who doan' know a case of measles from smallpox. Besides, he cheap. N. B., or O. K., or S., can N. G., are common titles dat any man kin haul in with a fish line from almost any wharf. If Gub'ner Butler has turned to dis club in an earnest manner, as I believe he has, we must not disappoint him. We must gin him a title to be a legal combined. I shall now proceed to crown himself D. S. O. A. L. W. Y. G. T. S. I. C., which stands fo' 'Doan' sot on a limb when you go to saw it.' I not only believe the title will be heartily accepted an' highly appreciated, but I shall draw on a gub'ner for $3 to pay fur de bar'l o' de onede which now stands in de ante room to honor dis occasion. We will now take a recess of seben minutes to pay our respects to de aforesaid beverage, an' anybody 'fit only one dipper I'll start fust."

Seymour to Tilden.

N. Y. Times.

While Mr. Tilden, with a telephone receiver at his ear, impatiently waiting in the rural solitude of Greystone for a "general organized demand" that he shall become the presidential candidate of the democratic party, the words of ex-Governor Seymour, in which he set forth to Mr. Howard Carroll his reasons for refusing in his old age to accept public station, may come to him: his years and of the ugliness of other veterans who are watching his movements with some curiosity. "When I see tottering old men," said ex-Governor Seymour, "upon the brink of the grave, clinging to an unseemly scramble for office I am always reminded of Holbein's picture of 'The Dance of Death.' It shall never be said of me that I took part in such a cotillion."

A Nevada Fish Story.

Carson Appeal.

Yesterday morning about 10 o'clock one of the men who were working at the Lake Bigler wood flume at the lumber yard in Carson, called out to the men below that all the fish in Lake Bigler were coming down the flume. A few seconds later a school of fish struck the apparatus which is placed in the flume to catch sticks of timber over the edge of the flume, and, being suddenly detected, fell over the workmen. The water was fairly bristling with trout and suckers, and they came in irregular numbers, about six inches long and all alive. Nearly a ton of fish fell under the flume and the workmen took them away in baskets. A ton of fish in half an hour is about the best score on record for Nevada.

Dr. Benson's Skin Cure is without a peer. It consists of both external and internal treatment and costs only $1 per package, at druggists.

FROM THE ORIENT.

Budget of News from China, Japan and the East Indies.

The Pacific Mail steamship Rio de Janeiro, which arrived at San Francisco on the 22d, brought Hongkong dates to June 21, and Yokohama dates to July 6. Following is a summary:

CHINA.

Li Hung Chang, the commander-in-chief of the army, has 20,000 men under him, divided into fifty-eight camps.

The corrupt revenue official and opium farmer, Admiral P'ang Yuk, is dead.

The Foochow tea market was not opened this year so early as it might have been. The Chinese vendors asked for extortionate prices for their produce, but ultimately had to give way.

Arrangements have been made at Hongkong for the formation of a company or two of Portuguese artillery.

Two Chinese war vessels arrived at Hongkong on their way south on June 16.

The shareholders of the China Traders' Insurance Company have divided their present shares of $1166 66 into twenty of $83 33 each and increased their capital from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000 by the creation of 12,000 new shares of $83 33, upon each of which the sum of $25 is to be paid up.

JAPAN.

The Japanese steamship [illegible] Maru, a vessel built in Sunderland in 1874, and costing £10,000, while on a voyage from Hongkong to Kobe, ran on a rock at Shimonoseki on the 15th ult. All the passengers and crew were saved and efforts are being made to save the cargo and float the ship. No definite information has yet been received, but experienced men regard the recovery of the ship as hopeless, and this in the face of the favorable reports which come to hand.

Currency remains at 130—a cause often distrusted by everybody. Merchants engaged in foreign trade state that any operations on their part of magnitude would be the cause of an arbitrary alteration in the officially quoted rate. Hence most of the inactivity recorded in business. In the meantime the Japanese newspapers are busily engaged in demonstrating to their own satisfaction that foreign trade has drained Japan of specie and virtually ruined the country.

The Japan Gazette says: "One of the papers mentions that a box of tea has been forwarded from the United States to the department of foreign affairs as a specimen of the deceptions introduced from Japan by the American government. On examination it was found that this so-called tea was something else. No doubt the working of the new act will check the importation of spurious teas and lead indirectly to improve the production in Japan, but the questions to be asked are: Was its tea in question exported hence by Japanese or foreigners? If by the latter, how did it occur that the counterfeit rubbish was passed and bought after sealing by a foreign tea inspector?"

The practice of selling children appears to be carried on in some parts of Japan without much disguise. The Mai Nichi Shimbun states that a person named Tanabara, residing in [illegible], Yokohama, has been arrested, charged with having sold to Chinese two children under five years of age.

MANIL.

On May 26 a severe thunderstorm occurred. Several houses were struck by lightning. In one of the houses struck in Malate two persons were killed—a man and a woman—and four other persons were knocked senseless. Two persons were struck dead in a house in Tim[illegible]. Among the buildings struck by lightning were the cathedral and the Bilibid jail, but fortunately both escaped with slight damage.

NORTH BORNEO.

On March 21, a Chinaman, whilst recklessly holding a revolver, accidentally shot a Bajau woman, who died immediately. The husband of the deceased woman and some of his friends determined to have the life of the Chinaman, who was taken for safety to the custom house at Bongon and kept there that night. The next day, however, the house was forcibly entered and the Chinaman was hacked to pieces. The news having reached Kudat, the assistant resident sent Inspector Foley and some Sikhs with a warrant to arrest the murderers. They no sooner showed themselves, than they were fired upon from one house by the husband of the deceased woman and his relatives, the rest of the villagers holding themselves aloof, many of them having fled into the jungle, while in all the houses were flying white flags in token of submission. The husband and two other men ran "amok" right into the force and were killed, but before they had dispatched two of the Sikhs, one sudden and unexpected was their onslaught. The remaining villagers thereupon took to flight. One Sikh private also was slightly wounded.

EXPORT OF BEEF FORBIDDEN.

HONGKONG, July 21.—The Chinese have prohibited the export of bullocks for the use of French troops in Tonquin. Two cargoes of cattle were detained at Haiphong. The French admiral has made a strong complaint, and the British consul has also protested, some of the shipments being made by an English firm.

NOTES ON FOREIGN MATTERS.

The office of president of the Royal Society is one of great dignity, and indirectly one of profit; it can usually command a knighthood, or even something better. That is why there has been recently a attempt in Burlington House. The friends of Professor Owen are anxious to obtain the office for him, but Professor Huxley is openly hostile to that distinguished naturalist. It is said to be a possible thing that the society will want a rich man, who can play the host after the late Mr. Spottiswood's sumptuous style. Those who seem to be out of the race are Professor Tyndall, Professor Stokes and Sir John Lubbock.

"How is it," asks an English journal, "that the institution of cafes fails to become acclimatized in England?" The Builder has tried to answer this question, and has suggested that architects might undertake to make coffee taverns a little more comfortable inside and a little less forbidding outside than they are now, that, furthermore, something might be done in the matter of wall decoration. The Pall Mall Gazette thinks that something might also be done to improve the coffee they serve. "Why," exclaims this journal, "cannot the managers of such houses undergo a thorough course of teaching at the school of cookery?"

Mr. Alexander Watt, who wrote some time ago a book about a lump of coal has now written another book about a lump of chalk. To the unimaginative reader a lump of coal or chalk may signify little but to one who perceives the human relation between life and such a particle of matter it means everything. In his story of a lump of chalk Mr. Watt gives an interesting lesson in the science of industry. He points out the evidences of floating ice perceived in the sea or white chalk in England, and he rises gradually to all the uses of chalk. He moves amid bones, quicklime, limestone, candles and bleaching powder.

The fourth centenary of Luther brings to light the fact that in an obscure Thuringian village there survives two male descendants of Martin Luther. One is a carpenter at Kloster-Allendorf, and the other is a theological student at the university of Jena. Their line of lineage is traced directly, though it would be hard to define their precise relationship to the reformer. Each of these members of the Luther family enjoys, by virtue of their ancestors a right to receive at his confirmation fifty thalers on his apprenticeship to any trade or profession a second fifty thalers, and at his marriage a third fifty thalers. It is worth their while to marry, apparently.

Some candid common sense has cropped out of the London Pall Mall Gazette apropos of the deceased wife's sister bill and the feeble comments upon it by the Saturday Review. The amusement frightful of the Review has called out this vigorous protest: "Why is there no more appetite, desire, and unbridled passion in the wish to marry a woman standing in this relationship than in the wish to marry any other sort of a woman? As if the motives that prompt these unions in all civilized countries save our own were not as mixed as the motives in other marriages. The authors of those gross and useless innuendoes forget that in Germany, in France, in the United States, in our colonies such marriages are matter of course, and that in those countries they wonder at our fastidiousness in the business, as well they may." This might have appeared in an American newspaper.

ORPHANS' HOME APPEAL.

EUGENE CITY, Oregon, July 19, 1883.

To the membership throughout the state:

"At the recent session of the executive committee in Portland, the condition and needs of our home for orphans received solicitous consideration, and it was decided to lay the whole matter before the membership with a view to enlisting more hearty co-operation in carrying the enterprise forward to creditable completion.

Up to the last session of the Grand Lodge the sum of $2127 95 had been raised. During the session $431 25 was subscribed and $111 paid; making a cash total of $2493 85.

The subscriptions are all good and will no doubt soon be remitted. Of this amount $1816 70 has been invested in an eligible piece of ground at The Dalles, which for beauty and healthfulness of location cannot be excelled. But it is only a beginning. We must now have a building.

The people of The Dalles (who have so nobly aided us thus far) propose to add $1600 as soon as the order furnishes $2000 as a building fund. With this it is believed that a building of a size to meet urgent demands can be erected.

Now, brothers and sisters, shall we arise and build? It is for you to say. Fifty cents from each of the 4500 members in his jurisdiction will give us more than we ask, and how the world that the Good Templars of Oregon are in dead earnest in every enterprise to which the put their hand. Have you given any aid to our home? Has your lodge yet had an orphans' home entertainment? If not, why not?

The necessary steps are being taken to place the matter on a legal basis, and every dollar sent to this office will be properly accounted for, and none expended until the $2000 is raised. Many lodges have done nobly in the past; cannot such give us still further aid? J. E. HOUSTON, Grand secretary Independent Order of Good Templars.

"Humanity's greatest hope for the future is known to be realized in improved conditions of matrimony. What a profound obligation does this fact involve! Those who realize the responsibility can hardly do better than take advice from Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, whose wonderful remedies for the cure of all diseases peculiar to women are so justly celebrated. Send for pamphlet.

A nine-story office building has recently been erected on La Salle street near Monroe, Chicago, at an outlay of $140,000. It has been leased for ten years at an annual rental of $20,000 and all taxes and assessments, leaving a revenue of $20,000 and the structure free of cost at the end of the lease.

There is hardly an adult person living but is at some times troubled with kidney difficulty, which is the most prolific and dangerous cause of all disease. There is no need to have any form of kidney or urinary trouble if Hop Bitters is taken occasionally.

HOW'S AGE TAXATION AGAIN.

Willamette Farmer.

We have received from Mr. Hugh Boger, manager of the Dundee Investment Company, a copy of a circular addressed by him to assessors in this state with reference to the mortgage tax law, suggesting that mortgages held by the company over smaller them counties should be treated and assessed in the same proportion to valuation as real estate. He goes on to argue the question and shows, what we have often shown in the Farmer, the defect of our system by which lands escape taxation at a nominal valuation, while money is taxed at its full face. He claims that, under this system, lands are assessed at half their actual value, and even less; that where land is mortgaged for half its value the owner pays no tax whatever, and the holder of the mortgage has to stand the cost of taxation burden. In other words, the mortgagee pays his own share of the taxes and the landowner's share also.

He claims that this "violates every principle of equity," and is an open contradiction of the constitution and legal laws of the state. The constitution says: "The legislative assembly shall provide by law for a uniform and equal rate of assessment and taxation." The general laws provide: "That all taxes shall be assessed on property valued. It equal and just proportion."

Mr. Boger urges that the members of the board of equalization of each county shall "simply do what the law and justice demands." He adds: "I may mention that as the result of the recent decision by the supreme court, I have received strict instructions from the directors in Dundee to call in all moneys due the company. In a year of scarcity like the present this policy would, no doubt, prove disastrous to many farmers, and I am very averse to taking such an extreme step if it can be avoided. But if mortgages are to be subjected to a tax altogether out of proportion to their equitable share of taxation, there would appear to be no other alternative than to withdraw the loans."

Learning that such instructions had been received from the directors of this company, we visited the manager to learn the facts as well as to understand the views of the company concerning the law. This circular was handed to us as a complete answer to all questions. We understand further that Mr. Boger and the local board favor taxation of mortgages in a fair manner. We leave the assessment of them to Mr. Wm. Reed and from Mr. Robert Bell, but as showing the use of foreign capital to a large extent, that they favor a fair rate of taxation, we consider as the principal representatives of foreign capital in our midst, and from the avowed opinions of all these we gather that they ask no discrimination in favor of money as an assessable property, and will not consent to any discrimination against money while our usury law restricts interest as it does. They say: "With taxation averaging 3½ and 3½ per cent. in the business centers of Oregon, and heavy expenses incurred in conducting business, there is not sufficient inducement for us to remain. We can do better in our loans and trust our business elsewhere when we can use our money to better advantage."

The local board of the Dundee company consider it prudent to recommence loans, thinking the condition of the country is favorable to equitable consideration of the law or to its amendment.

While these are the facts as near as we can learn them, it remains to be seen if the directors in Scotland will consent to commence making loans before so decision is made to satisfy their view of the case.

We think every sensible man will agree that any citizen of Oregon, or of the United States, or of Scotland, who has money to loan here, is entitled to fair treatment. We see no reason why money should be doubly taxed more than real or personal property. We see no reason why it should not be taxed the same as other property.

Viewing it that under our constitution and laws money must be assessed at its full figure, and that such assessment is unjust and must result in dishonest returns of property and fraud, and that seeing taking law is the parent of fraud, we have suggested that the exemption of money from taxation might be the lesser of two evils. We have never preferable to the existing system. We have never advocated that theory, but merely have considered it as a possible relief. If the law can be so amended as that money can be assessed in proportion to other property, then we see no excuse for fraud or corrupt practices and an easy solution of the difficulty. We have no prejudice in favor of money lenders, but we abhor any statute that gives excuse for fraud by working unfairly.

We endorse the petition of Mr. Boger, and his purpose that money in mortgages secured and taxed fairly and pay its full proportion toward sustaining the state.

Foreign corporations have benefited our region—if lending money to men in need is any benefit—and have shown no oppressive spirit, and a new country needs capital for its development, and our section has safe employment for all the money our citizens, foreign or native, can furnish. There is no reason why, with the completion of the Northern railway and building up of the northwest, money should not come here in such amount as to enable enterprising men to prosecute manufacturing and other works, and be afforded at as low a rate as it is offered in California. With fair treatment capital will be here in abundance and money will cheapen as it becomes plenty. Fair dealing is all money lenders should ask, and that is all we are inclined to allow them.

THE MORTGAGE TAX LAW.

PORTLAND, July 27 '83.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

The influence of the mortgage tax law upon the prosperity of Oregon has been, is, and will be, as predicted by THE OREGONIAN at the time of its passage, injurious to all interests of the state and beneficial to none. In its inception and adoption it was class-legislation of the very worst form, inasmuch as it has failed to benefit any one. Its promoters sought to "cinch" Portland and foreign capitalists. They forgot that Portland could find securities outside of Oregon, free from the unequal burden of the taxation the act has imposed. They failed to recall by the experience of Washington territory, which in one session of its legislature passed a bill discriminating against foreign capital, and at its next meeting was only too glad to repeal it. They appear to have thought that whilst their properties, continually increasing in value, should only be taxed one-third to two-fifths the price they would command if sold, the money loaned upon those properties, which is a fixed quantity, and has no increase other than the interest paid, should bear the entire burden of taxation. They lacked the knowledge that this has been garnered by such states, territories and countries, viz., it at direct taxation on money invariably and inevitably leads to its secretion or withdrawal. They wished Portland to which already pays about half the state taxes to pay the other half also. They made "cinches" for home and foreign capital, and already they find their "cinches" like curses and chickens are coming home to roost. They have legislated money for their use out of the market. Within the past week a member of the legislature, who voted for the bill, has been in Portland seeking to raise the money to lift an overdue mortgage, and has found to his bitter discomfort that there is none to be obtained for such purposes. There is abundant money in Portland for all legitimate business uses; there is none for country mortgages. It is unwise if the country can stand the strain, Portland can also; and when the movement is made to amend the law, it should be made by the country and not by the city.

A GOOD COMPARISON.

The Rev. William Dalliat, a well-known Methodist clergyman, residing at Naples, draws the following amusing, but apt comparison between Dr. C. McLane's Vermifuge, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa., and a ferret.

"A ferret when placed at the entrance of a rat hole, enters the aperture, travels along the passage, seizes upon the rat, exterminates his existence and draws the animal's defunct carcass to the light. And in like manner have I found Dr. C. McLane's Vermifuge to operate upon worms, those dreadful and dangerous tormentors of children. This remedy, like the ferret, enters the aperture of the mouth, travels down the gullet, hunts round the stomach and lays hold of the reptiles, worms, shakes the life out of the reptiles, sweeps clean their den, and carries their carcasses clear out of the system. This, at least, has been the effect of the Vermifuge upon my children."

THE NATIONAL LIQUOR TAX

The Journal of Education believes that "Senator Logan's proposition to appropriate $60 000 000 annually for national aid to education is impracticable and impossible and that no party or congress could carry through a proposition so wild." Nevertheless Senator Logan's proposition when fairly stated will not seem so devoid of merit. He simply urges that a large proportion of the revenues obtained by the government from taxation of the liquor traffic be appropriated for educational purposes. The best argument for it rests on the fact that it would insure continuation of the taxation of the liquor traffic by the general government. At every session of congress there will be a powerful effort to abolish this tax, which effort would have a small chance of success were the people accustomed to depend on its proceeds for the support of the school system. True, there is objection in certain quarters to "linking this unhallowed traffic with the education of our children," as some one whose imagination outruns his judgment has put it; but it certainly would be better to make the liquor traffic contribute something to support of the school and thus reduce direct taxation than to permit the traffic to be free. It is argued, however, that the school system, after it had become accustomed to drawing its support from this quarter, would soon become an ally or prop of the liquor traffic, and that every effort to abolish the traffic would be answered by denunciation of those who proposed to deprive the schools of their means of support. But it may be observed in the first place that the liquor traffic is not likely to be wholly abolished or even reduced to very narrow limits, and in the next place that even prohibition states like Maine, Kansas and Iowa need not be averse to taking their share of the proceeds of liquor taxation in Ohio and New York to support their own schools, since taxation does not sanction the business but is repression as far as it goes. If Ohio and New York will not prohibit, then let the tax be kept up, both state and national, and the prohibition states by their votes can help to force the national tax on the traffic in states that do not prohibit it. This will strike the average judgment of the country much more favorably than free whisky.

THE CHANNEL TUNNEL

It looks very strange that objection should be made in England to the tunnel under the channel on the ground that it would open a way by which a hostile army might enter the country. Surely nothing could be easier than to block or barricade so narrow a way, and were it not obstructed at all by works or barricades a few guns would sweep it of any force that might attempt a passage. The plan for the tunnel contemplates an opening with just room enough for two lines of rails. There would be no stations except one on the English and one on the French side. It is estimated that the carrying capacity of the tunnel worked upon the block system, as most well-regulated railways now are, would be twelve trains per hour each way. To pay five per cent on the capital invested there would be required a gross income of £678 000 a year, and to secure this at competing rates against the channel ferries the trains would have to carry 2000 passengers and 600 tons of merchandise daily. At a recent hearing before the special tunnel committee of the house of commons one of the projectors said that if it were determined that the tunnel would have to be destroyed in case of danger from war that would not deter the company from going on with the scheme, because the chances of such a situation were exceedingly remote, and beside it would be easy to blockade the tunnel for such length of time as might be required without destroying the main part of the works. Again the sea could be let in if an emergency required it, and pumped out without great expense or delay after the danger had passed. The tunnel will be twenty-one miles long, or, including the approaches, thirty miles, and it will take from eight to ten years to complete it. The cost is now estimated at $40 000,000—a large sum, but one by no means difficult to raise upon an investment that promises a fair rate of interest.

NEW YORK POLITICS

The Democratic managers are having a very anxious time of it in New York. Between the Kelly and anti-Kelly factions of the metropolis the war has broken out afresh. Opponents of Tammany determined to make that faction succumb to the organization known as the "county democracy" or be cut off from all intercourse with the party, while Tammany, relying on its great power, defies the discipline proposed and resolves to maintain its autonomy as a political organization.

But the Kelly faction as a force in state politics has been weakened by shrewd maneuvres attributed to Tilden, by means of which many of its old adherents at Albany, Troy, Rochester and other places in the interior have been detached from it. Part of the programme is the cry for "the old ticket," which finds its chief advocates in the Tammany element of those places. It has even been asserted that the current would sweep the Kelly faction of the metropolis in, and that Kelly himself would support Tilden, but this is by no means likely to occur.

The interest that attaches to these movements is due chiefly to the bearing of the vote of New York city upon presidential elections. Without the earnest coöperation of the Kelly faction there is no possibility of a democratic majority in the metropolis of sufficient magnitude to overcome the republican majorities of the interior and secure the electoral vote of the state. With such harmony and coöperation the result is, in fact, still a matter of uncertainty, since the republicans carried the state in 1880 against a united democratic party.

They may be good judges of the qualification of a juror down in Tennessee, but the reckless manner in which the court casts aside first class material is truly astonishing. Here is an illustration from Knoxville: Judge—Are you a householder in this county? Juror—Yes sir, I keep house. Judge—Have you formed or expressed an opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the defendant Taylor? Juror—No sir, I have no opinion except what I've heard. Judge—Have you any opinion about anything? Juror—No sir, I have no opinion about anything. Judge—Did you ever have an opinion? Juror—No sir, never did, judge. He was told that his services were not needed by his country and that he could step aside.

An effort is being made in Brazil to introduce Chinese labor on a great scale. It is stated that about 20,000 coolies are to be sent to Brazil during the year under the direction of the Brazilian consul at one of the Chinese ports, who is to be paid a salary for the purpose by the coolie company. The passage of these creatures is to be made to cost not over $12 50 apiece, and the contracts for their indenture term of five years labor are to be sold for $40. The wages it is proposed to pay them are said to be less than it costs to feed and clothe a negro slave.

In a recent issue of the Louisville Post the editor congratulates himself that his paper is on the high road to prosperity, and he therefore thus addresses himself to friends and enemies: "Now, gentlemen, you who have stood by us in the dark hours when a weekly deficit of from $500 per week was trying our nerves and depleting our pocket, won't you step up and take something? As for our enemies, may the Lord forgive them. We don't."

Is the Northern Pacific railroad to be completed and Portland not know it, or at least not give any sign that she knows it?

A LOOK AT THE SUN.

Recently there has been much discussion of sun spots. These days, as the sun looks through our dusky air shorn of his beams, a dark spot upon his face is clearly visible to the naked eye. It is the largest spot of a group which at its case can easily be resolved by the use of a moderately good glass. A spot so clearly seen by the naked eye cannot have a less extension on the surface of the sun than twenty or thirty thousand miles.

Of the operations going on upon the surface of the sun of which these spots are the curious manifestations we have no precise knowledge. But it is certain that the sun is the seat of an enormous and inconceivable energy, with agitations and movements of every kind and of great intensity. The best sustained theory of the mass of the sun is that it is neither solid nor liquid, but gaseous, so that our great luminary is nothing more than an immense bubble. The pressure upon the interior portion is however such as to reduce it nearly to the density of a liquid, while the temperature is so high as to keep the substances in inconceivable commotion. Of this fierce energy the spots are now generally regarded as the signs or effects. The spectroscope gives colors which show many substances with which we are acquainted, as sodium, magnesium, iron, calcium, etc., and out of the immense waves of a white hot sea enormous masses of incandescent matter are shot to a height, it may be supposed, of one hundred thousand miles. Somewhat cooled, these masses are interposed between the eye of the observer and the photosphere of the sun, preventing a large part of the light from reaching our eyes. It is supposed by those who have given the subject most examination that this is the origin of the phenomena known as solar spots. If the eruption is instantaneous, or of very short duration, the vaporous mass falling back on the sun soon again becomes incandescent and dissolved, and the spot rapidly disappears; but the interior forces of the sun may continue a long time, and the eruption may maintain itself in the same place during two or more rotations of the great body on its axis. This will account for the persistence of the spots. The movements referred to of course defy description; their velocities are enormous, and attended apparently with a vertical motion to which our atmospheric movements known as cyclones have some resemblance. These whirlpools of the sun are of all dimensions, from the scarcely visible pores to the enormous spots which we see from time to time.

There are certain supposed connections of the sun spots with terrestrial phenomena which are of interest, but science must wait for further research before announcing any positive conclusions, with the exception of the almost certain connection between disturbances of the solar surface and of terrestrial magnetism. There is good reason to believe that the frequency of auroras and magnetic disturbances is subject to a period corresponding to that of sun spots, these occurrences being most frequent when the spots are most numerous. But this fact is to be co-ordinated with many more before the great law of which it is a manifestation can be definitely announced. That the result is beyond the reach of the human mind it would be hazardous to assert in view of what science has already achieved.

Journals of Columbus, Indianapolis, Cleveland, St Paul, Des Moines and many other places issued since the strike began are before us. All of them have their usual quantity of news by telegraph. It is a fact which cannot now be disputed that the strike struck Portland harder than any other place in the whole country. With business going on at every other point in the United States it is not probable that the interruption can be permanently maintained here. It becomes plainer every day that the strike is not going to win. At all points except Portland there are men enough to keep business moving, though not as promptly and rapidly as formerly, and at Portland there is increase of force sufficient to work off commercial business, with prospect that the news embargo will soon be raised.

Gen E O C Ord U S A, whose death is announced, will be remembered by old residents of Oregon for his service here many years ago. He was then Captain Ord. At the outbreak of the rebellion he was made a brigadier general of volunteers, and served through the whole war with distinguished honor. He was with the western army under Grant and subsequently commanded a corps of the army of the Potomac participating in the final movements around Richmond. Gen Ord was an excellent soldier, was a native of Maryland, and reached the age of sixty-five years. He was honorably retired from the army about three years ago, after which he became interested in Mexican railways. On his way to Monterey he was seized with yellow fever, which quickly terminated his life.

Returns of immigration into the United States for the year ended June 30, 1883 are furnished to the press by the bureau of statistics at Washington. The number of immigrants arrived during the year was 559,114, being 189 878 less than during the preceding fiscal year and 70 317 less than during the year ended June 30 1881. The greatest falling off has been in the arrivals from Germany, 191 643 against 249 16 in the preceding year; Canada 64,971 against 98 029; Sweden 34 596 against 64 276; and Ireland 63 720 against 76 52. The only foreign country from which there has been an increased arrival is Scotland, which sent us 849 more immigrants in the last fiscal year than in the preceding twelve months.

There is a strong kick from the south against Sam Randall for the speakership on account of his extreme protective proclivities. It is the opinion of the Atlanta Constitution that "In making Mr. Randall speaker the democrats would practically endorse the present tariff and utterly destroy their chances in 1884. So far as vital issues are concerned the two parties would be practically harmonious. The only issues between them would be the offices, and in the scramble for these the republicans would undoubtedly come out ahead."

If misery loves company the Japanese editor must be pleased with the new government press regulations. The proprietor, director, editor, writer, printer, translator and every other person connected with a newspaper is to be deemed culpable for any offensive article in the paper. In addition to this rule a member of the cabinet may at any time direct editors not to discuss the affairs of his department. This is the most effectual bottling of the press known outside of Turkey.

The Philadelphia Bulletin having asked "What books shall we take away for the summer?" Robert Burdette suggests that if you are going to Newport or Long Branch you better take a pocketbook. He adds that one three feet long and twenty-eight inches wide will last you a whole week.

"He Won't Do."

This is what the Charleston S C News and Courier says respecting Mr Tilden as a presidential candidate, and it adds a doubt that any one has been named in this connection who would be more objectionable to the south unless it be General Butler.

The signs are multiplying that Mr Tilden is going to be a far more disturbing element in the democratic party from now until the next national convention of the party shall have done its work. He took the very same course, it will be remembered, during the twelve months immediately preceding the opening of the campaign of 1880. The plain English of the recent utterances of those who are put forward to be Mr Tilden's trumpeters is that he wants the democratic nomination next year if he can get it, that he will do his best in his own indirect way to get it, and that, notwithstanding all his efforts, he should still get it it must be understood that he never wanted it at all.

NEW TO-DAY.

AN ANONYMOUS NOVEL,

THE BREAD-WINNERS,

Begins in the August number of THE CENTURY MAGAZINE. The scene is laid in one of the western lake cities. It turns on the great Labor Riot. The story is full of action, and abounds in local descriptions and social studies, which heighten the interest and contribute much to curiosity as to the author.

As in former years this number is called

THE MIDSUMMER

HOLIDAY CENTURY

It contains richly illustrated articles, short stories, sketches, poems and other out-of-door papers specially adapted to the summer season. One of its features is a handsomely illustrated article on "Bob White, the Game Bird of America," by Prof Alfred M Mayer, a scientist and sportsman, who gives practical suggestions for shooting quail. Joel Chandler Harris contributes another group of his "Nights with Uncle Remus." H H gives one of her profusely illustrated articles on Southern California Missions, and W D Howells offers the most entertaining chapters yet given of "A Woman's Reason." [illegible] the Silk Dress Story, and "The New Minister's Great Opportunity" are two short stories of charming humorous character. John Burroughs writes with vigor and candor about the Carlyles, and Henry James has an admirable essay on the leading French novelist of the day, Alphonse Daudet, of whom a full page portrait is given. There are also illustrated articles upon the works of Mr Watts at the Grosvenor Gallery, "The Oldest Club in America," etc, etc.

For sale by all book sellers and news dealers. Price 35 cents. In no other magazine can so much entertaining reading matter with such beautiful engravings be had for the price. Persons who are not regular readers of the Century should not fail to see this special number.

CITY.

BURNED BY FIRE.—J. W. Davis, a hard-working, middle-aged man, who had carved out for himself a home in the forest near Rooster Rock, on the Columbia, came to this city yesterday and applied to the county authorities for aid to keep himself, his wife and his little ones from starvation and death. He reports that although a short time ago he considered himself well-to-do, with a chance of becoming a rich farmer, to-day he and his family are destitute, his wife being even without sufficient clothes to wear. Their house, their barns, their pigs, their poultry, everything was destroyed a few days ago by a fierce forest fire that swept over their place. It came upon them without warning and so fast did it travel that they were just able to escape with their lives. Mrs. Davis was confined to her bed with a baby only nine days old and was unable to walk. Her husband, when he discovered the fire rushing toward the house, lifted her and their babe in his strong arms and followed by their two other little children took refuge in a root house or dug-out about twenty feet away. He was only able to make one more trip to the house obtaining what a pail of water, before the fierce heat of the fire drove him into the dug-out, and the surrounding buildings were in flames. For two hours the air outside was so hot as to keep the family close prisoners, and even in their refuge they were almost suffocated. By hanging the blanket before the open door way of the dug-out and keeping it wet with water, Mr. Davis managed to keep out the most of the flames and smoke that would have been certain death. When at last he could venture forth, he found that everything he had was lying in ashes about him. His wife being sick and he entirely without means, he could do nothing else but apply to the county for assistance.

CHINESE QUARREL.—Justice Greene's court was crowded yesterday afternoon with dusky Mongolians who had mixed themselves up in a neighborhood quarrel that required the law's great wisdom to straighten out. Ah We appeared against Fook Mong and Fook Mong appeared against Ah We. Each was charged by the other with assault and battery. Ah We told a pitiful story and appealed to the sympathy of "Melican man." He himself is a Christian, and some time ago he rescued Mrs. Ah We, nee Ah Lin Dike from the depths of barbarism and a highbinder's harem. For this he has never been forgiven by his heathen brethren, as he claims, and is continually subjected to persecution by them. The recent trouble was caused in this wise: Mrs. Ah We was cleaning her back porch in the second story of the house in which Fook Mong occupied the ground floor. A few drops of water penetrated between the cracks and dropped down upon the shaved cranium of Fook Mong, who was standing below. In a towering rage the latter ran up stairs and shamefully insulted Mrs. Ah We by the vile language he used towards her. When Ah We came home he remonstrated quietly with his down stairs neighbor and thought it was all over. Later in the evening, however, the door of his room was broken open and Fook Mong and three others entered. Before he could say anything he was struck in the face by Fook Mong with a bar of iron. Fook Mong swore that all the above was a lie and that he himself was the assaulted party, but unfortunately for him he had no other witnesses to corroborate such testimony, consequently he was fined $10 and Ah We walked away from the court room with a very high idea of American justice.

DREDGING ST. HELEN'S BAR.—Day before yesterday, the steamship Umatilla, drawing nineteen feet one inch forward and nineteen feet and four inches aft touched upon St. Helen's bar, and had some little difficulty in getting over. The river that day was nearly six feet above high water mark. This will give less than fourteen feet depth at extreme low water. Something has to be done. Capt. Chas. F. Powell has written to Mr. C. H. Prescott, manager of the Oregon Improvement Company, tendering $2500, the entire amount of government funds for this purpose at his disposal, toward paying the wages of one of the company's colliers in sluicing out the bar, as was done last year. Mr. Prescott has subscribed $2500 on behalf of the O. R. & N. Co., and a like amount now remains to be raised by the city of Portland. A letter on this subject has been addressed to Mr. Donald Macleay, president of the board of trade, and will be presented at a special meeting Monday evening. The usual course will be to appoint a committee to solicit subscriptions. There is no doubt that the amount can be raised, but the matter wants to be disposed of quickly, as the river is falling at the rate of more than a foot a week. Captain Powell says there will be no trouble this year at Postoffice bar or at the mouth of the Willamette, the dikes having accomplished the result expected. With St. Helen's bar sluiced out, the two government dredges and the city dredge can be concentrated on Swan Island bar, and shipping would experience less detention than during any autumn for years past. Let $2500 be raised.

ALASKA EXCURSIONISTS PLEASED.—From one of the excursionists to Alaska who arrived last evening, it is learned that the Idaho reached Port Townsend last Tuesday and went to Astoria, but is expected here this evening. A number of the passengers came via Tacoma, while the remainder are still with the steamer. Several new points of interest were visited on the trip, especially fine being the one up Glacier bay. The steamer was anchored alongside what is locally known as the Muir glacier, reported to be the most extensive one in Alaska. The lower end of this glacier rises perpendicularly from the water some 300 feet, and is about two miles in width, while the length is variously given from thirty to 150 miles. Its surface presents a beautiful and striking appearance. In places crimped and corrugated, in others sharp cut and deeply cleft presenting varied and fantastic forms. The highest point reached was latitude 59 degrees, 30 minutes. But two really rainy days were experienced, although the rest were somewhat cloudy. Some of the excursionists who have traveled extensively in this country, Europe and South America, are free to say that for rugged water, island and mountain scenery, the Alaska trip surpasses any they have ever made. All passengers are enthusiastic in its praise, the numerous courtesies extended by Capt. Carroll, and the excellent treatment by other officers and crew.

TRANSFER FOR TRAINS ACROSS THE RIVER.—The work of driving piles for the incline at Ainsworth dock for the transfer of trains across the river was commenced yesterday. The incline on this side of the river will be 60 feet long and twenty feet wide, with two tracks. It will start from the railroad track near the upper roadway at the south end of Ainsworth dock, and running southerly out diagonally across the other two roadways, projecting 300 feet into the river below the dock. The outer end will be two feet lower than extreme low water. A pontoon sixty feet in length, mounted on wheels, will run upon the lower end of this track, upon which the ark will be landed from the boat. The grade of the incline will be one foot in 100 feet. The incline on the east side will be of the same dimensions and will be located on the site of Shaver's [illegible] house and wood yard. The O. R. & N. Co. has purchased the barges Ark and Monarch of Geo. Weidler. The Ark will be changed into a transfer boat for use at Ainsworth dock, and the Monarch will be used to transfer freight from Albina, and barge No. 1 will be made into a transfer boat for use at Kalama. Work on all these matters will be pushed with vigor, and it is evident that an effort is to be made to enable the first through train to reach Tacoma.

FEVER AMONG HORSES.—For the past two weeks, many horses in the city have been suffering from catarrhal fever. It is epidemic, and is due to climatic influences. Most of the cases are mild, and but few require medical attendance. Symptoms are: coughing, discharge at the nose, sometimes at the eyes, high fever and general debility. W. B. King lost his fine bay buggy mare—decidedly the handsomest piece of horse flesh in town—a few days ago, of influenza, resulting from the fever. D. Monastes also lost a fine animal recently brought from California from the same cause. An OREGONIAN reporter learned yesterday that nearly all the livery and boarding stables have cases, and more than half the horses in private stables are affected. Drs. Withycombe and McLeod, the well known veterinary surgeons, recommend the following precautions: Above all, good ventilation; gentle exercise daily; horses should never be driven hard and then allowed to stand in a cool air, and they should have a light, soft diet of a laxative nature.

ARRIVAL OF THE MADRAS.—The British iron steamer Madras, Captain W. H. Bradley, arrived here last evening and is moored at Columbia dock. She left Hong Kong about four months and a half ago—was detained at Honolulu on account of having smallpox among the Chinese passengers on board. She has been at Victoria for about a month. She left there at 7 P. M. on the 25th, and arrived at Astoria at 6 P. M. on the 26th. Left Astoria at 6 o'clock yesterday morning and arrived here at 6:30 last evening. She brings 400 tons of Chinese merchandise for this port. She will remain here about five days and take what freight and passengers offer for Hong Kong, and will then sail for Tacoma to coal. The Madras was here last November at the time the Danish steamer [illegible] was here. Captain Bradley was in command at that time, and has lost none of his genial manner since and was warmly welcomed last evening by a large number of friends made during his previous visit.

GOOD BUSINESS.—Chief of Police Watkinds certainly seems to have the intention of keeping all the haunts of vice and crime in the city below the surface and not allowing them to crop out to the disgust and annoyance of respectable people. By personal observation he has satisfied himself in regard to the order which is maintained in the variety theaters and the character of their performances. A low and noisy dive on First street, between Yamhill and Taylor, recently started, and to which the admission is free, was warned that better order must be maintained in the future. This is very good, so far as it goes, and perhaps such places as this dirty dive cannot be exterminated as they deserve to be. But there is a law against their selling liquors without license and this is violated again and again every night. Why cannot this ordinance be enforced by the police? It has been sustained by the courts.

WANTON WICKEDNESS.—Some miscreant while passing along the trail from the top of Robinson's hill to the canyon road on Thursday kindled four fires in the timber. Fortunately they were discovered by a party of men working near, who, assisted by the people in the vicinity, after much trouble succeeded in extinguishing them. There were [illegible] houses and barns endangered by this wanton act of rascality and their owners are much enraged against the perpetrator. They have an idea who he is and are keeping a sharp lookout for him, and if caught he can depend upon condign punishment without any trouble from the law's vexatious delays. Any person setting fires in the woods at such a time as the present deserves summary and severe punishment.

DINNER TO GENERAL PIKE.—Last night a number of Scottish Rite Masons entertained General Albert Pike, Sovereign Grand Commander of the order with a banquet at Eppinger's. Covers were laid in the large hall for thirty, and the menu was comme il faut. Short speeches complimentary to General Pike as a man and a Mason were made by several members and responded to by the honored guest in fitting terms. Among those present were Senator J. N. Dolph, Mayor J. A. Chapman, Hon. H. P. Earhart, D. W. Pratt, A. P. DeLin, L. G. Clarke, J. W. Cook, J. B. Cardwell, H. L. Hoyt, Geo. H. Chance, W. H. Harris, R. B. Knapp, J. McCraken, Kenneth Macleay, D. S. McKercher, Seth L. Pope, A. Roberts, F. N. Shurtleff, Geo. L. Story, Joseph Simon, Chas. Sitton, Theo. Wygant, Gustaf Wilson, B. G. Whitehouse, D. W. Taylor, Eugene D. White, P. S. Malcolm, Joe E. Smith and others.

PREPARING TO ENTERTAIN GUESTS.—There will arrive here a few days after the last spike on the Northern Pacific railroad is driven, about 200 guests, many of whom will come from Europe, to take part in the ceremony. Proper hotel accommodations being wanting, arrangements are now in progress for otherwise caring for the guests. Prominent citizens having commodious houses, have volunteered to entertain from four to ten visitors each, according to their means for such entertainment. A number of comfortable lodgings have also been secured and those not entertained privately will be boarded at Eppinger's. Much is expected of Portland, which has received and will receive greater benefit from the Northern Pacific railroad than any other coast city, and visitors will not have ground for complaint over Portland's lack of hospitality.

INSPECTING THE NORTHWEST COUNTRY.—Captain R. A. Tenney, a well known map and atlas publisher of the firm of Tenney & Weaver, Chicago, Ill., is in the city, having arrived by the last steamer from San Francisco. He is accompanied by his wife, who is sister to Mrs. B. S. Little, long a resident of Portland, whom they come to visit after a separation of twenty years. The captain has long felt the need of that knowledge in his business which a personal inspection of the new and wonderfully rapid developments going on in this great northwest, alone can give. He will, therefore, spend several months looking over this country, visiting all the places of interest that his time will permit, extending his tour, perhaps, as far north as Alaska. Mr. and Mrs. Tenney have many old-time friends in Portland and throughout the country who will be glad to hear of their arrival.

SEVERE ACCIDENT.—C. M. Kirk, section boss of the first eight miles out from East Portland on the O. R. & N. Co.'s line, met with an accident yesterday that came near resulting fatally. He was riding on his railroad velocipede at the rate of about sixteen miles an hour, when one of the wheels struck a stone lying upon the track and both the vehicle and the man were hurled headlong. The velocipede was almost irreparably smashed but Mr. Kirk fortunately fared better. Although thrown further than the velocipede, he suffered no broken bones. His only injury was a severe bruising of the right side, which is now so painful as to confine him to the house. The stones on the track which caused the accident were probably placed there by mischievous boys.

SMOKE GETTING DENSER.—So far as annoyance from smoke is concerned, yesterday was the most disagreeable day of the year. The air was oppressive, and the smoke hung over the entire neighborhood as a dark cloud, impenetrable to the sun's rays. So dense was the smoke that buildings were invisible at the distance of four blocks, and the east bank of the Willamette was obscured from view from this side of the river. The temperature was not very oppressive, the mercury reaching only 83 degrees. Towards dusk, the gentle sea breeze which has favored Portland since the warm season began, came as usual, and the night was comfortably cool.

FIRES AT MILWAUKIE.—The fire which started in a slash on R. Scott's farm near Milwaukie, a few days since, and came near burning the houses of Rev. John Selwood and Mr. Pelly, is supposed to have caught from a fire made by Chinamen, at work on the railroad, to cook their dinner. The buildings had a very narrow escape. Mr. Atkinson, just above the town, had 150 cords of wood burned the day before, and only by great exertions saved another lot. He thinks the fire was set by a man who had been working for him. A farmer a short distance from the town had a lot of hay burned in the field by a hired man dropping a match he used to light his pipe in the stubble.

LONELY DEATH.—Mr. Bird of Vancouver, who was in the city yesterday, states that the body of an old man, a German, was found yesterday morning at his farm near Battle Ground. The old man, who lived by himself, was supposed to have accumulated considerable money. A friend went to see him on Thursday, but could not find him. He raised a party to search for him, and they found his remains a short distance from his house. His gun was lying beside him, and he had apparently been dead for several days. As there were no marks of violence, it was supposed he had died from natural causes. The coroner went out from Vancouver to hold an inquest yesterday.

FORGER AT LARGE.—The police have been notified by a deputy sheriff from Hillsboro to look out for Johnny Martin, a young man not unknown to them, who broke jail at that place on Thursday. He forged the name of Mr. Jolly to an order on which he attempted to obtain some goods at a store. He was arrested and placed in jail, but he had not been there more than an hour when he managed to escape and took to the woods, where he succeeded in eluding his pursuers. Should he return to this city he will speedily find himself in a jail whence he will not so easily escape.

CHANGED TO A FACTORY.—The old saying about turning the sword into a plow-share can now be coupled with one about changing a meeting-house into a sash and blind factory. Goss & Dowding of Vancouver are about to convert the old Methodist church into a small manufacturing establishment, in connection with their work as contractors and builders. They will put in wood working machinery, for filling special orders on doors, sash, bracket and other ornamental work connected with their business. The power for running the machinery will be furnished by a twelve-horse power steam engine.

WELLS, FARGO & CO.'S LETTER LIST.—Letters for the following persons remain uncalled for at Wells, Fargo & Co's: H. C. Aker, A. Benjamin, N. S. Brewster, J. M. Baltimore, Jos. Cartimel, Cassett & Severs, Jno. B. Duff, Dr. France, Mrs. Edw. Harold, Miss Mattie Howard, Jno. D. Hall, C. Lemoner, Miss Otta Laraick, P. M. Miner, J. N. Martin, G. W. Merrill, Mrs. A. Mills, Francis D. Prigg, J. B. Price, Thos. Quigley, C. D. Ryan, Martha P. Swift, Louis Schwabacher, Sherman & Hinman, Frank Saltzner, H. M. Taylor, C. E. Watkins and G. B. Williams.

SUDDEN DEATH.—John Klert, who resides near Buena Vista, died suddenly at Wilhoit Springs on Thursday forenoon. He had visited the springs with his daughters for the benefit of his health. On Thursday he went to the spring alone, and was returning to the hotel with a vessel of water and when about half way between the spring and the house he was seen to fall. Friends rushed to his assistance, but he was expiring when they reached him. His death is attributed to heart disease.

MOUNTAIN CLIMBERS.—Messrs. George Breck, Leon Borice and J. M. Breck, Jr., will start August 1 on a trip to Mount Adams and St. Helens, visiting the celebrated ice caves, Trout lake, etc., on the route. This is their second attempt to ascend these mountains, they having failed in June, owing to deep snow. They are well provided with apparatus, including bunch grass hats three feet in diameter, and intend making it tropical for the huckleberries and other game of that description.

THE COMEDY SEASON.—The Leonard Grover Comedy Company will appear at the New Market theater commencing Wednesday evening in Mr. Grover's own plays. The opening performance will be "Our Boarding House," to be followed by "Lispel" on Thursday evening, "My Son-In-Law" on Friday evening and "Papa Burleigh" on Saturday evening. At the matinee Saturday afternoon "My Son-In-Law" will be produced. Seats are now on sale at Cornelius' drug store.

HELD TO ANSWER.—James Boyle, who so brutally beat his wife at Mrs. Daley's residence, was arraigned in the police court yesterday. The little son of the injured woman testified that the prisoner stamped her head and he thought he would kill her. The woman is at the hospital in a critical condition. Boyle was held to answer before the grand jury in the sum of $500.

SENT TO THE ASYLUM.—Mrs. Mary Smith, the woman who has been several times sent to the county poor farm with her three little children, but who always escapes, coming back to the city and getting drunk, was yesterday committed to the insane asylum as unfit to care for herself. Her children will be cared for by the Ladies' Relief society.

AMUSEMENTS.

THE CIRCUS.—Dan. Castello's nickel-plate circus drew a very large crowd last night, completely filling the spacious tent. It required but an act or two to convince the audience that the show was one of excellence, not only in the performances themselves but in general management and the style in which they were presented. While there is much that reminds one of the long-ago, many of the acts are really new and very attractive. The globe groupings by Durand, Samuels and Evans were exceedingly clever. As contortionists the Henley brothers rank very high, and introduce much that is new and startling. We have not seen any tumbling equaling that of Evans, Durand, Samuels, Harding and others. The trained horse [illegible], introduced by Dan Castello, is one of the handsomest horses that has appeared in our city. As a trick horse he shows wonderful intelligence, and is a very attractive feature of the circus. His performances are alone worth the price of admission. Omas and Lottie Belmont on the trapeze give some remarkably fine feats. During the act Miss Belmont, while hanging suspended head downwards, [illegible] over 650 pounds of humanity, and gains rounds of applause. Aside from the excellence of the performances, every one connected with the show is polite and attentive, being in sharp contrast in these respects to those who have accompanied circuses that have heretofore exhibited in this city. Mr. Castello, as a clown, is well known, and it is doubtful if his equal is in the ring to-day. A matinee will be given this afternoon, and we would advise those who desire to attend to go early.

JUSTIFIABLE HOMICIDE.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

LINKVILLE, Or., July 27.—The coroner's jury returned a verdict of justifiable homicide in the killing of J. Larkin by T. H. Worden. The verdict was entirely satisfactory to the people of that section.

In extracting fruit flavors, Dr. Price deals directly with nature, and leaves the use of artificial extracts to those who have not the chemical knowledge to extract from the true fruits. Dr. Price's Special Flavoring Extracts are conceded to have no peers in the market, and hence the demand for them is constantly increasing.

A FREE LECTURE on the "Conquest of the world by Jewish forces under Jesus the Messiah," will be delivered by H. C. Bingley, of the Christadelphians, meeting at 165½ First street, over Prentice's music store, on Sunday, at 11 A. M. The Hebrew community specially invited.

THE BICYCLE CONTEST.

INTERESTING EXHIBITION AT MECHANICS' PAVILION LAST NIGHT.

Promise of an Interesting Finish of a Twenty-four Hour Contest To-night—Merrill Pulling Away Steadily.

The much-talked of bicycle exhibition at Mechanics' pavilion came off last evening under most favorable auspices. A large crowd, composed for the greater part of ladies, applauded the participants to their utmost, and any admirer of graceful ness could not help enjoying the exhibition from first to last. The audience was first greeted with a splendid show of plain riding by Messrs. Merrill, Warren, Townsend, Hogue, Black and Ripperton, all of whom seemed to have trained together and worked excellently. After a short ride Messrs. Merrill and Warren retired, leaving the remainder to finish the ride, all of whom did a little fancy riding, more especially Mr. Townsend, who executed several very difficult tricks. This was followed with by Prof. Merrill of San Francisco and Mr. Warren of Astoria. Both gentlemen rode into the center of the pavilion, neatly dressed in suitable costumes, and gave an exhibition at which no one could find fault. The perfect ease and grace with which the bicycles were handled made them appear as if fairly gifted with life and as the glittering wheels sped around the course, first one way, then another, and twisted and turned, crossing and recrossing each other's course, and all so easy and noiselessly one could catch himself wondering whether or not it is but a piece of simple mechanism. The people of this city are most all familiar with Professor Merrill's fancy riding, so suffice it to say that he repeated all his tricks with the advantage of plenty of room, music and a good audience. Mr. Warren is probably the only person north of San Francisco who would have any claim to compete with Professor Merrill in fancy riding, and did all of Merrill's tricks in a neat style, showing him a perfect master of his wheel.

The skating match for the champion medal of Oregon, which was to have taken place between Messrs. Maur[illegible] and Meade, did not come off on account of the absence of Mr. Meade. The time was occupied by Mr. Mancle, who gave a very neat show of fancy skating. The contest for the championship was announced to take place this evening. The feature of the evening, the start of

was announced. Messrs. Merrill, Warren, Gove and Ripperton participating. Much time was consumed in running wires around the course, moving seats, and making all preparations for the contest, during which pools on the race were sold. Merrill, with first choice in most every case, and when not, it was Warren, with Gove as third and Ripperton last. Merrill gives Gove a handicap of twenty miles, Warren thirty miles and Ripperton fifty miles, and stated when asked, that if no accident occurred he would in all probability make 130 miles in the allotted twenty-four hours. The enormity of Merrill's undertaking makes it seem almost impossible for him to win. As a fair illustration, he gives Ripperton, who is an average rider, a start of the distance from here to Salem, and will have to pass him before he reaches Roseburg, and has given the other contestants the same proportionate start. Merrill is the lightest person in the contest, weighing probably 126 pounds and rides a fifty-inch wheel. Warren is short and heavy, weighs about 150 pounds and mounts a fifty-two-inch machine. Gove is tall and well formed, weighs about 160 pounds and also rides a fifty-two-inch bicycle. Ripperton is slender, weighs about 130 pounds and rides a fifty-inch wheel. F. M. Gove was chosen scorer for Merrill and Gove, M. Hauser for Ripperton and A. B. Thomas for Warren; all chosen with the consent of the riders. Henry Thompson was appointed referee and called the contestants to the starting point, after first stating to the audience the terms of the race and the names of the entrees. The following rules were then read by Mr. Thompson:

Competitors in this contest shall travel on bicycles without any assistance except to mount and dismount.

The one finally accomplishing the greatest distance, including handicap, in the twenty-four hours, commencing Friday evening, July 27, and ending Saturday evening, July 28, shall be declared the winner of the race.

Contestants shall all travel on the same track and start with the left hand to the inside, and no one shall be allowed to reverse, except by mutual agreement of all contestants.

Only one attendant shall be allowed on the track for each contestant at one time to hand his principal refreshments, and attendants shall not be allowed to travel more than thirty yards in any one lap with contestants and must not get in way of same.

Any contestant on receiving a second caution for any misconduct will have one lap taken from his score, two laps for a third caution, three laps for a fourth, and on the sixth offense shall be ruled off the track.

The decision of the referee shall in all cases be final and without appeal.

No competitor shall pass another on the turn, or take the inside track until far enough ahead to do so without interfering with any contestant next behind him.

Any contestant willfully stopping the progress of any other contestant in any manner whatever shall be ruled off the track.

He wound up by telling them that in so small a course, with fourteen laps to the mile, great care was required to avoid trouble, and that any person breaking the rules laid down, would be dealt with accordingly; that he had been given $500 by Mr. Steel[illegible], four hundred to be given to the person making the greatest number of miles, and one hundred to the second best man. The contestants were then started, at twenty minutes past 10, Merrill lead off from the first, followed by Ripperton. Warren took an ordinary speed, and kept pace with Gove. The first mile was made by Merrill in 4 minutes 13 seconds. After the first two miles Merrill increased his speed and finished ten miles inside of forty minutes. He was pushed by Ripperton the first four miles, and when at a turn he allowed Ripperton to pass him, who turned inside so suddenly as to lose his balance, and fell to the floor with his machine on top. Merrill was too close behind him to save himself, and was piled on top. Luckily the worst injury was done to the machines, both men escaping with a few bruises. Ripperton's wheel was so badly damaged as to cause a delay of ten minutes. Merrill lost scarcely any time. Warren kept the pace he started with. He rides easily and will probably be Merrill's hardest competitor in the wind up. Gove increased his speed after the first hour, and kept pace with Merrill for several miles. Ripperton rides at about seven miles an hour rate, and if able to hold out, may prove dangerous on account of his advantage of fifty miles.

FOREST FIRES.

[FROM THE OREGONIAN'S LOCAL CORRESPONDENT.]

BONNEVILLE, July 27.

A forest fire is raging about four miles west of here in the vicinity of Warren's cannery. Several hundred cords of wood belonging to Mr. Dodson were burned last night. No other losses reported so far. There is also a fire on the side of the mountains back of here, but that will, probably, give no trouble, unless the wind changes. The smoke is very dense and disagreeable to-day.

LODGED IN JAIL.

J. R. Todd, the Man Charged With the Wells, Fargo Express Robbery asserts his Innocence and Tells the Story of His Arrest.

Ex-Sheriff F. P. Hogan of Douglas county arrived here last evening having in charge J. R. Todd, accused of robbing the mail and Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express near Wolf creek, on Monday night last. He was taken at once to the office of U. S. Marshal Kearney. When asked by the marshal if he knew what he was arrested for, he replied that he had heard of several things. He was then informed that he was charged with robbing the United States mail, and was sent to the county jail in charge of Deputy Marshal Burns. The money found on Todd was turned over by Mr. Hogan to Colonel Dudley Evans. The revolver which belonged to Todd and a few articles which were found in his pockets were given in charge of the marshal. Orders were given the jailer to keep a strict watch on the prisoner and to take charge of his boots, which will probably be used in evidence against him. He is a rather wild-looking fellow, but has the appearance of a laboring man, about 40 years of age. He claims to be a nephew of Mrs. Abraham Lincoln, and says that since [illegible] war he has lived in Arizona, New Mexico, Montana and Idaho. He says he worked at the second crossing of Clarke's fork and was in Weeksville in December last, which is the time the vigilantes ordered him there. The amount of money found upon him added to what he is known to have spent after the time of the robbery, tallies with the amount taken from the express box. He purchased a horse and saddle for $35, but not having change gave the seller two $20 pieces, and told him to send the change to Harrisburg. He was arrested at Watson Mince's farm, two miles south of Riddle.

It appears that only one man was engaged in the robbery of the stage, instead of three as at first reported. He presented a pistol and told the driver to hold up. When the stage stopped he asked if there was a messenger on board, at the same time looking at a Portland drummer who was seated beside the driver. This person at once threw up his hands and shouted that he was no messenger. The robber then ordered the driver to throw out the express box and the mails, and also the passengers' baggage. The passengers were told that they would not be molested if they remained quiet. One old Frenchman, when he heard his valises thrown out poked his head out of the window and said those were his property. He was told to pull in his head or he would be scalped. He pulled it in.

The express box was smashed in with a rock and robbed, and the mails cut open and the contents widely scattered. A bundle of bonds was found hidden under a log about half a mile from the scene of the robbery. A number of letters were picked up and were brought back here by Eugene Shelby of Wells, Fargo & Co. Valuable papers were found torn up and scattered around—among them a check for $64,000 and another for $37,000.

An OREGONIAN reporter visited Todd last evening in his cell at the county jail, and having asked him to make a statement of his whereabouts for a few days previous to his arrest and also to give the particulars of that as they seemed to him, obtained the following story:

"I left Dec. Sharpwell's ranch eight miles east of Eugene, last Monday and went to Roseburg, landing there about 11 o'clock that same night. The business I had there was to invest what little money I had in a stable, grocery or restaurant, whichever one I might think was most profitable. Everything in the camp was dull and the place seemed to be going down. Before going to Roseburg I had thought that if I could find no profitable business there I would go on down the canyon and see if I could get some ground for placer-mining, in which business I had formerly been engaged. I bought a horse and left Wednesday morning for the trip down the canyon. I found the placer mines of so little value as not to be paying much profit to the parties who owned them. About sundown I stopped at a ranch about two miles south of Riddle's. I put my horse in the stable and left my revolver in the wagon before going into the house. Before going to bed we had quite a chat about different ranches and places in the valley that were for sale.

"In the morning, when I came out on the porch to wash for breakfast, I saw ex-Sheriff Hogan, but paid no attention to him. While I was washing my face he stepped up behind me and covered me with a revolver. His hand trembled and shook like a leaf on a weeping willow. He ordered me to throw up my hands, and for several minutes it seemed as if I couldn't get them high enough to suit him, as he kept saying 'higher! higher!' He then ordered the rancher to disarm me. After the rancher got me several digs in the ribs in feeling for weapons, and couldn't find any, Hogan ordered me to tell where I carried my arms. I told him where I left my gun the night before, but he wouldn't believe me. The rancher then went through my pockets and took what money I had. They were not going to count it at first, but I insisted that they do so. Hogan had already put some of it in his pocket, but he drew it out and the rancher's son counted it, although scattering it carelessly over the floor. There was $1871.50. I want you to be sure and put in that dollar and 50 cents for when this matter is settled I want my money all back, every cent of it. I have worked hard enough to earn it. I don't know what has become of my revolver, horse, bridle or saddle, but I want them well taken care of or Mr. Hogan will have to pay for them. I was tired into a country vehicle without breakfast and landed at the station at Riddles. We were about an hour and a half making the trip, the harness breaking every fifteen minutes and the rancher getting out to fix it. About 9 o'clock we got breakfast at Riddle's. It was brought to us in the sun outside the depot. I ate very heartily, but my friend Hogan only drank half a cup of tea. We then went to Roseburg by a slow freight and thence to Portland by passenger train.

"I wanted Mr. Hogan to invest some of my money in cigars for us, but he was as careful of it as if it had been his own. I purchased a bottle of bitters at Goshen, but Mr. Hogan wouldn't let me have a dollar to pay for it, so I went without."

"How long were you at Sharpwell's ranch?" asked the reporter.

"About two months."

"Can you explain how you came to have all the money found in your possession?"

"I am well able to prove by the folks where I have been living that I had a large amount of money always with me. Until last Sunday I had $400 in $100 bills, but thinking I might want to bury money some time, I got it changed into gold at Eugene. The man who changed it for me was a stranger from the east, and I wish you would put in the paper that if he is in town I would like to have him come and see me."

The prisoner told his story in a straightforward manner, but did not make it clear enough to have his innocence stand forth very brightly. Neither did the attempt which he made to belittle the courage of ex-Sheriff Hogan redound any to his credit, as that officer and his ability to capture desperate characters are too well known throughout this country.

ENFORCING THE ORDINANCE.

Street Superintendent Enters Complaints Against those who Fail to Clean the Streets in Front of their Places of Business.

Complaints were entered yesterday in the police court against a large number of persons and business firms who have failed to comply with the provisions of the ordinance relative to the cleaning of streets, as warned a few days ago by publication through the columns of the daily press of this city. A hearing will be asked for in all these cases on Monday afternoon next. This decisive action shows that the new superintendent of streets is in earnest in what he has said about requiring every one to keep clean the streets in front of their own residences and places of business. Other complaints will soon be made against people in all parts of the city unless a warning is taken and they comply with the ordinance.

SATURDAY MORNING, JULY 28, 1883.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST.

Eastern Oregon.

Heppner Gazette: As Dave McAtee and Lorenzo Day were returning to Heppner last week they discovered in passing that the sheep camp of Judge Dutton, located on Eight Mile, between the north and middle forks of the John Day, was on fire. The tent, bedding and whole camp outfit was destroyed. The herder was off quite a distance with the sheep at the time, and knew nothing of the fire until they went out and found him. His dog had been previously poisoned, and it is supposed that some settler who wanted all the grass for himself is at the bottom of the whole business. It is to be hoped that the author of such an outrage may be properly punished.

Western Oregon.

L. L. Thomas, an old pioneer, died at Hubbard July 23d.

The Coon bridge over Muddy creek, ten miles south of Albany, has been burned. A contract had already been let for a new bridge.

There is a squaw at Sheridan from Grand Ronde, who is afflicted with what is pronounced by competent judges to be genuine kanaka leprosy.

The large warehouse at Salem has been placed in its new location. This building weighed about 600 tons and required several weeks to remove it.

The wounded convict, [illegible], is doing well. Some of the clothing that had been carried in the wound by the ball, came out with the pus a few days ago.

Hay seems to be very plentiful at Dayton. Good oat hay bringing all the way from $8 to $10 per ton, extra quality, with plenty wheat in [illegible], sells at $12 per ton.

At the last meeting of the trustees of Santiam academy, Prof. J. L. Gilbert was engaged to take charge of that institution for a period of three years. The professor has been teaching in the academy for five years.

Albany Democrat: Four years ago Mr. [illegible] H. Wilson of Halsey found a stray head of wheat on his farm. It had such long beard and so many plump kernels in the head that he took compassion on it, and the next winter planted those lonely kernels in mother earth. They came up many fold, bearing a hardy appearance. No one knew their name, nor has it been ascertained to this day. Mr. Wilson though has given it the name of the Blue Velvet winter wheat. Four years have passed and this year about 500 bushels will be raised, all from that single head, notwithstanding the fact that it was frozen out last spring. It was, like other wheat, injured, so that only about twenty-five bushels to the acre will be obtained. Ordinarily about fifty is yielded from it. The heads yield fully one hundred kernels, which are wonderfully plump, while the stalks are strong. Probably no more prolific, hardy wheat is to be found, and it will pay the farmers to experiment with it. So much confidence has Mr. Wilson in it that next year he will sow 200 acres to it.

Washington Territory.

The Spokane Falls Daily Chronicle is a thing of the past.

Hosea Harvey of Rockford had a leg broken by a wagon last week.

The first shipment of new wheat reached Walla Walla last Thursday.

The little exploring steamer [illegible] will leave Cheney on Monday for a cruise.

Walter Laidlaw, of the Mendocino Lumber Co., will erect an $80,000 mill at Gray's harbor.

The annual selection of teachers for the Seattle schools will be made August [illegible]. Two or three more teachers will be required than were employed last year.

The improvements at Lacamas lake, above Vancouver, have commenced, the loggers having begun putting in logs, out of which lumber will be made for the factory buildings. J. M. Brown has been awarded the contract for putting in the dam at the lower end of the lake.

The new mail and passenger cars now being built at the New Tacoma shops of the N P R. R. Co., are rapidly approaching completion and will soon be ready for service. Several new flat cars have just been finished, and a quantity of prepared lumber, used for manufacturing cars, may be seen in the yard.

The fires on the shore of Vancouver lake ten days ago invaded the logging camps, burning over large tracts in the camps on the Goddard, La Salle and Anderson places, doing considerable damage. Baxter had about 700 logs caught out, which were destroyed. Work has been resumed in the camps, the fire having spent its force in that vicinity.

It is thought the Wingate vein in the Carbonado mines will be reached in about two weeks. It is stated that the coal is superior to any on Puget Sound, and is far better than any other on the coast. When the superintendent begins making shipments from it, some of it will be put on the Tacoma market, while the remainder will be sent to San Francisco.

Post-Intelligencer: There never has been a time in the history of Seattle when there was so much demand for labor as at the present time. It is almost impossible to hire white men at any price. The mills are all running short-handed for the reason that they cannot secure the needed help, and in many instances contractors and others are employing Chinese because they cannot secure white labor.

The managers of the Olympia industrial and mechanics' fair, to be opened early in October, are determined to make the coming exhibit far exceed anything of the kind ever held in that city. The second floor, only, of the hall was used last year. This year both the first and second floors will be utilized, and it is thought an abundance of space can be furnished to all who desire to display their wares. The people of Oregon are invited to participate.

Mr. Livingston Stone, United States fish commissioner, whose trunk was stolen at the depot at Spokane Falls on Wednesday last week found the missing article under the [illegible] creek bridge, rifled of about $100 worth of clothing and jewelry. The trunk was stolen from the depot and cut open with an ax and the robbers took what articles were of value to them. A quantity of government papers of considerable value were [illegible] and left in the trunk.

Argus: Port Townsend has some two dozen places where liquor is sold, including two or three places of ill repute, and the number of saloons is increasing, another being in immediate prospect. This is running pretty steep for a town of 1500 inhabitants. A proposition is being discussed among members of the city council to refuse license to the said houses and make all the others pay about double what they have heretofore. It is argued in favor of this plan that it would reduce the number of saloons about one-half, if not more, and that those remaining would be of the better class.

Spokane Chronicle: Mr. Sayre, of Orchard & Sayre, returned Saturday from Colville valley, where he has been looking over the country and enjoying life for a few days. He brought back some fine specimens of silver bearing rock and says there are acres of it in that valley. There will be developments in the Colville which before we are hardly aware of will start a boom there. Mr. Smith brought a sample of tons of ore to the Falls and sent it to 'Frisco to have it reduced, and should it prove as remunerative as it appears, [illegible] made in the Colville [illegible] look for fortunes to hunt it. Many people are going into the valley, too, to take up lands, and the surveyors are there and about to begin work, when immigrants will flock in from all quarters.

Seattle Chronicle: C. M. Anderson, city engineer, is seemingly wanted in all directions at once. He has been traveling to all parts of Puget Sound and its surrounding mountains in the past thirty days. He returned Wednesday from a trip from the Denny mines and reports that at the foot of the backbone on the western side of the mountains he saw two men who said they had come over to begin work on the new wagon road across the mountains. They will blaze the trees along the trail, and if possible they will do some work around the backbone this season. The working party expect to complete the road from the eastern base of the mountain to a point above the lake within six weeks. They will finish the work of building a good wagon road from the eastern base to the summit of the mountains this season. Mr. Anderson saw twenty-five men at work under the direction of Superintendent James McGuire running tunnels, prospecting and developing the metallic mountain known as the Denny iron mines.

Spokane Falls Chronicle: We were shown some remarkably rich specimens of ores which Professor Tiernan is preparing to send to the mineralogical cabinet of the Northern Pacific Railway Company at their headquarters in Mills building in New York city. The specimens are from mines awaiting development by parties connected with the company and are located near the line of the road in Montana about a day's ride by rail from Spokane. The specimens include gold, silver, copper, galena and iron and the silver one is regarded by Professor Tiernan as the richest specimen known in any mineral collection in the world. His collection shows a wonderful combination and variety of the blending of different mineral elements, and is bewildering in the richness of color yielded and the immense value contained in a ton of the raw ore. The professor also discovered a new mine in Idaho on his return from Montana, which bears chlorides of silver and indicates a rich yield. Smelting will be the process for reducing these ores, and of course will require expensive machinery, but the near completion of the road will make this immense mining region easily accessible and then we may look for developments.

Idaho.

Boise City Statesman, July 24: Marshal Kearney, who came down on the Idaho City, or rather, Quartsburg, stage yesterday, says that at 8 o'clock A. M. yesterday some masked men in the willows by the side of the road on Henry creek, two miles this side of Centerville, hallooed to the driver, Bat Curtis, to stop, but Curtis whipped up and the fellow ran up to the side of the stage with a shotgun and told him to stop or he would blow his brains out. Curtis stopped, when the fellow told him to throw out Wells, Fargo & Co.'s box. The robber pretended to hallo to his partner in the willows to keep an eye on that fellow, meaning the driver. The passengers were not disturbed and the stage drove on, and in coming up the hill this side they saw the robber pack the box through the willows toward the hill on the other side. Kearney thinks the robber had no partner but did the work alone. The stage drove into Idaho City in about an hour, and Wm. Paxton, Wells, Fargo & Co.'s messenger, with another man, started for the scene of the robbery on fast horses.

OLYMPIA ITEMS.

FROM THE OREGONIAN'S LOCAL CORRESPONDENT.

OLYMPIA, July 26.

The dead body of a man was discovered to-day at the back of a lot in this city, with his throat cut. From what I can learn his name is supposed to be Munson and he hailed from Maine, and for some days had been visiting with a family here, who are of course terribly shocked over his sudden death. An inquest will probably be held, but the general impression seems to be that it was a case of suicide, and that it must have taken place at least three days since.

The Sawtelle-Seymour trouble was the general topic of conversation last evening and to-day, the lady having made herself still more conspicuous by swearing out a complaint against Mayor Ostrander for alleged assault and battery. However the plaintiff forgot to put in an appearance this morning before Justice Ready, and on motion of defendant the case was dismissed.

A sun spot has been lately visible here during the past few evenings, owing to the smoky atmosphere, which causes the sun to appear the color of blood. It appears to be moving directly upwards across the center of the sun's disc, and was visible to the naked eye this evening.

All business houses in this city, except the saloons, close now at 8 o'clock P. M. sharp.

BALTIMORE, Md.—Dr. Lewis H. Eldridge, says: "I would recommend a trial of Brown's Iron Bitters in all cases of anaemia debility or when a tonic or appetizer is indicated."

A LETTER FROM MR. LAMB.

WESTERN UNION TELEGRAPH COMPANY,
SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
PORTLAND, OGN., July 27, 1883.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Understanding it has been represented that I am secretly in sympathy with the "strike" and am only acting against it from a sense of duty to the Western Union Company, I beg to state in the most emphatic manner that I am personally, as well as in my official capacity, opposed to the strike in Portland; that I consider it unreasonable, unnecessary and totally uncalled for; that it is not intended to redress any grievances of the operators in this locality and not beneficial to the cause of the eastern "strikers," and that it works more injury to the public and commercial interests than to the Western Union Telegraph Company. I firmly believe the participants in this strike will gain nothing and lose much by their persistence in their present course. A little reflection will prove the correctness of this belief.

From its present experience it should and undoubtedly will be the policy of this company to place in positions of importance and trust men upon whom they can confidently rely to remain faithful to it in any similar emergency in the future. The employees remaining true to the company in the present difficulty will have passed through the fire and proved their loyalty. The acting president and general manager of this company, General Thomas T. Eckert, is well known to be one who will stand by the men who have stood by him, and the future will prove that I am not mistaken in my belief.

I am compelled to make this statement in this manner, for if I allowed the report of my alleged secret sympathy with the strike to pass without denial it would have the effect of placing me in a false position.

I am pleased to be able to announce that our day force is now full, and that we are able to handle all commercial business without unusual delay.

I expect to fill our night force before the end of next week, when we will resume taking the western associated press dispatches in full, and a condensed report may be looked for earlier. We still need operators for the night force and if among the operators on this coast, now unemployed, there are any who claim to be my friends, they will confer a personal favor upon me by coming to my assistance; and I assure them, that should they do so, my friendship for them will be strengthened, and their course will merit and receive the approbation of the business community. Very respectfully,

F. H. LAMB, Asst. Supt.

Professor J. D. Lobb, who so successfully taught the Albany public schools last year, has sent in his resignation to the board of directors here, and accepted the principalship of the New Tacoma schools for a term of three years. He and his estimable wife will move to their new home next month, and will carry with them the well wishes of many friends.

DOUGLAS COUNTY NOTES.

[FROM THE OREGONIAN'S LOCAL CORRESPONDENT.]

DRAIN, July 27.

Merchants report business as good.

The weather is fair and smoke is plenty.

The furniture store recently started at this place by Messrs. Harlan & Co., has been closed out and the stock is being sold off.

Among the many good improvements in our town is a fine new residence that is being built by Hon. W. A. Perkins, and a good new brick store by Messrs. Drain & Co.

R. L. Stelly, our shoe-maker and harness dealer, will move into the lower part of the old Sanders house soon, where he expects to carry a full stock of boots, shoes and harness.

Geo. Estes, late night operator at the Roseburg railroad office, has been appointed railroad agent at this place vice P. O. Applegate, resigned. Mr. Estes is a competent and honorable young man and will make an efficient agent.

Professor H. L. Benson, who has been engaged to teach the school at the academy at this place, has moved to town and is busily employed fixing up preparatory to entering upon his duties. The prospects for a good school are truly flattering.

Dr. D. Payton has rented the property known as Payton's (or Snowden's) springs to Mr. George W. Cartwright, and removed with his family to town, entering upon the practice of his profession. Mr. Cartwright is the gentleman who had charge of the springs last summer, and we understand he is making that favorite resort more attractive than ever before.

We have not as yet been brought to think the action of the O. & C. R. R. management in raising freight charges on our local freight is just and right. In fact we think it is simply unreasonable. Many of our citizens now say that every effort will be put forth henceforth to secure the passage of a law creating a board of railroad commissioners who shall be empowered to regulate fares and freight charges.

The action of the Portland Board of Trade, composed as it is of the money lenders, in putting forth such strenuous efforts to save the farmer is truly amazing. We suggest that those moneyed men wait until their services are asked. The fact is the shoe pinches now on their feet and they see no way to evade the payment of the part of taxation they honestly owe and they are looking for a place to escape. Let the mortgage law stand and give it a fair trial before repealing it.

NOTES FROM THE DALLES.

[FROM THE OREGONIAN'S LOCAL CORRESPONDENT.]

THE DALLES, Or. July 27.

The streets are beginning to assume a cleaner appearance.

Mrs. George H. Waldron and family are in town on a short visit.

Mr. S. L. Brooks has sold his water works to a Portland firm.

Robert Mays' brick building on the corner of Second and Federal streets, is rapidly reaching skyward.

Three new baby boys greeted happy fathers Wednesday morning. Boys are the result of an Eastern Oregon climate.

J. B. Dickerson, much improved, has returned from Fifteen Mile creek, where he has been camping out for his health.

Mrs. Kosbus has advertised for sale at public auction the corner occupied by her buildings on Second and Union streets.

Street Commissioner Baits is hard at work on the Washington street sewer. It is being built from the river to the end in a lasting manner.

Dan Castello and his finished performers appeared before a full tent Thursday evening. This circus is the best that The Dalles has ever seen—taken as an all-round circus.

The past three days have been unusually sultry. The heat hangs over the city in heavy leaden curtains, only occasionally moving aside to admit momentarily a worn out zephyr.

Before the change of schedule here the moulders at the Fulton foundry, a quarter of a mile from town, were in the habit of jumping on the up train, which glides slowly to the depot just opposite to the foundry. Now, however, the train does not stop short of Summit. Not knowing this, several moulders yesterday jumped on for their usual ride, and were badly left—not at the foundry, but at Summit to await the arrival of the down train.

Yesterday afternoon a little animation was infused in Second street by a fractious horse which refused to be under the yoke of A. S. Cathcart. Mr. Cathcart had hooked the horse up to his dray with a gentle one, but on stopping in front of the San Francisco beer hall to unload a lot of beer the [illegible] suddenly became possessed with temperance ideas and began literally kicking over the traces. After some ground and lofty tumbling, interspersed with a little high kicking, he bolted up the street, carrying such part of the harness as wanted to go on the trip. The sidewalk was preferred for a while as being the most convenient, and he had the right of way there. Meeting an awning post the horse took it along with him to the stable. These little incidents serve to lighten up the dull days.

THE EAST SIDE.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

Mrs. Josephson, wife of J. Josephson, proprietor of the Orleans restaurant, on Fourth street, met with a very serious accident yesterday afternoon, by being thrown from a cart in which she was riding in company with Mrs. Dr. Royal, who was driving. When near the Episcopal church on Fifth street, the horse stumbled, precipitating her forcibly to the roadway, the cart then passing over her stomach. The force of the fall was received by her head and spine, the former of which was slightly fractured; but the greatest injury sustained was the severe shock to her nervous system. She was rendered unconscious; and as soon as possible conveyed to her rooms on L street, between Third and Fourth; and Dr. Royal summoned. She continued unconscious when this report closed, convulsions occurring at short intervals of a very severe nature and a fatal termination momentarily expected.

CHILD SCALDED.

A boy of Mr. and Mrs. Hazleton, residing on Seventh and V streets in Stephens' addition, aged about three years, was seriously scalded yesterday by pulling a tub of hot water over himself with which his mother was engaged in washing. He sustained severe injuries to the left side of the head, left arm and left side, extending to the chest and center of the back, the skin coming off in large flakes. The mother had temporarily left the water when the accident occurred. Dr. Dave Raffety attended the little sufferer.

ALBINA SCHOOL HOUSE.

Messrs. Zeller, Stokes & Co., who received the contract for building the Albina school house, have commenced work on their contract. The brick foundation was being built yesterday, and a force of men are at work getting out the necessary lumber. They expect to have their contract finished by October 15, the time designated.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

The Piutes are gathering the worms laid by a peculiar fly on lake Mono, as food, and eating them. They also keep them for winter food.

Mr. A. J. Dam, owner of the Union Square hotel, has enlarged it and named it the Hotel Dam. His friends ask him, "Is the Hotel Dam full?"

The next democratic platform will favor a "tariff for revenue." The word "only" will be omitted for the sake of brevity. Brevity is the soul of wit, we believe.—New York World.

English journals are speculating over the amount of energy of physical forces which would be displayed in case the plan of [illegible] to flood the Desert of Sahara was carried out. The flow of water would probably be long enough and strong enough to run all the mills of New England for several years.

The Texas cattle drive this year, it is estimated, will be ninety-five herds, averaging 5500 head each. The entire drive is estimated at 500,000 head, against 350,000 head last year. Most of these cattle will go to Dodge City, Kan., and Ogallala, Neb. The shipments by rail are said to be overestimated, and will probably not exceed 50,000.

A veritable hoop snake has been seen in the mountains near Altoona, Pa. It takes its tail in its mouth and rolls like a hoop. When in motion it is about the size of the hind wheel of a velocipede, and its speed exceeds that of the swiftest footed man. The people are very much afraid of it, although it has never shown any disposition to fight.

A French paper points out that nearly all the submarine cables of the world have been laid, made and paid for by Englishmen. The three companies reaching from London to the countries of the east represent more than 31,000 miles of submarine cables; English companies own 17,000 miles of cable between Europe and America against 10,000 miles owned in other countries; and nine-tenths of the 12,000 miles of cable connecting Brazil and the West Indies with Europe are owned in Great Britain.

[illegible], N. Y., Dec. 3, 1879.

I am the pastor of the Baptist church here and an educated physician. I am not in practice, but am my sole family physician and advise in many chronic cases. Over a year ago I recommended your Hop Bitters to my invalid wife, who has been under medical treatment of Albany's best physicians several years. She has become thoroughly cured of her various complicated diseases by their use. We both recommend them to our friends, many of whom have also been cured of their various ailments by them.

Nos. 12 and 14 North Front St.

TRADE AND COMMERCE.

FRIDAY, July 27, 1883.

No market reports were received during business hours to-day. A private cablegram to-day reports no particular change in the foreign grain markets.

A firm offer of 52s 6d for an iron vessel, future loading, resulted in no business. Shippers will not offer above this nor would they pay 55s at this writing. The San Francisco market is firm, and owners are enhancing their pretensions. The amount of tonnage in port, on way and loading now aggregates within 30,000 tons of the amount required for the business of 1882-83.

The oats received from California are of excellent quality. The market is now fairly supplied and new Oregon will arrive next week. Values are firm but unchanged.

In the general produce markets there is little of interest to note. Business is steadily quiet, with receipts fair for season.

Receipts past 24 hours have been 314 bbls flour, 225 ctls oats, 40 ctls mill stuff, 13,443 lbs wool, 1,804 lbs hides, 2,1[illegible] doz eggs, 2 bxs butter, 14 bls hay. Also 2,364 ctls wheat, 830 bbls flour, 24[illegible] ctls mill stuff, 31,705 lbs wool, 3,619 lbs hides, 1 bx butter from the eastern section.

UNFAILING SUCCESS OF

The Humiston Food Preservative.

Report of Prof. Samuel W. Johnson, Yale College.

"My tests of 15 days in the mean temperature of 78 deg. on meats, etc., being in a hot [illegible], have certainly been severe; and I am satisfied that the different brands of Rex Magnus, The Humiston Food Preservative, with which I have experimented, are of [illegible], have [illegible] different [illegible].

I have Accomplished all Claimed for it. So far as I have learned, they are the only preparations that are effective, and at the same time practicable for domestic use. At the banquet on treated meats at the New Haven House could no distinguish between those which had been sixteen days in my laboratory and those freshly taken from the refrigerator of the house. The oysters were perfectly palatable and fresh as any served there, the better, and [illegible] at the same time, which were recently [illegible] from the shell. The roast beef, steak, chicken, turkey and quail, were all as good as I have ever eaten."

Safe, Tasteless, Pure.

MERCURY

Has been more destructive to human health and life than war, pestilence and famine combined." So said a distinguished writer many years ago, and it is as true to-day as then. The poor victim of Blood Disease is drugged with Mercury to cure the malady, and the blood with iodides to every bone of the Mercurial Poisoning; but instead of any relief the disease breaks down his general health and makes him a cripple, and the [illegible] ruins his [illegible]. To those afflicted in this way Swift's Specific is the greatest boon on earth, and is worth more than its weight in gold. It antidotes this Mercurial Poison, takes up the system, and brings the sufferer back to health and happiness. Every person who has ever been salivated should by all means take a thorough course of this remedy.

JEFFERSON MED., Twiggs Co., Georgia.

Five years ago I found on my plantation a colored man who was badly diseased. He stated that five years before he had contracted a violent case of Blood Poison and had been treated by many physicians, all failing to cure him. I treated him with Swift's Specific, and in about [illegible] he was sound and well, and has not had a symptom of the disease since. [illegible] M. HUGHES.

One gentleman who had been confined to his bed six weeks with Mercurial Rheumatism, has been cured entirely by Swift's Specific in the [illegible] praise of S. S. S. [illegible] Chattanooga, [illegible]
